Jackie To Make News For Home And Festival

Jackie (Mrs. Charles) Caraway, has joined The News staff as feature writer and general assignment reporter. She will also handle publicity and promotion for the Banana Festival.

A resident of Clinton, Jackie is no stranger to Fulton County. For the past nine years she has been employed as secretary to Harry W. (Jack) Roberts, Jr., Hickman County Attorney, and in this capacity served three years as grand jury stenographer for Fulton, Ballard, Carlisle, Graves and Hickman Counties.

WFUL listeners will recall that Jackie substituted for Hickman County Judge E. H. Padgett on the Clinton Live Wire program last year.

Jackie is the niece of Jack and Lucille Burton of Fulton, and the grand-daughter of the late J. T. Burton, former owner of the Browder Milling Company.

A graduate of St. Francis Academy, Joliet, Illinois as an art major, Jackie continued her education at Park College, Parkville, Missouri and with extension courses from Murray State University and Bruce Business Institute of Martin, Tennessee.

As a volunteer social worker,

Jackie and The News

Jackie has assisted in a settlement house in Kansas City and Friendship House in Chicago, Illinois and has worked as an advisor to teen age groups at the YWCA in St. Louis, Missouri.

She was employed for three years with the candy division of Midwest Dairy Products in Memphis, Tennessee as a secretary, assistant office manager and manager of their retail outlet. She was assistant office manager for the Federal Chemical Company of Indianapolis, Indiana in 1951.

Fulton Homemakers will recall that Jackie was district citizenship chairman for several years, concluding her term in 1958. She was a charter member and a president of the Clinton Sunshine Club and served two terms as president for the Clinton Younger Woman's Club. These activities combined with her work in the P. T. A. made her a fine mistress of ceremonies for several talent shows in Clinton.

Jackie worked with Miss Mary Moss Hales of Fulton to organize the First District Legal Secretar-

While everybody else is bemoaning the heat, I welcome it.

It gives me an opportunity to have my moral conscience match the temperature.

Oddly enough, trying to find a place to keep cool, my blood pressure soared to such an extent I got mad, mad, mad. If you don't believe it, just read the editorial on page two of this issue.

As an editor and a parent I am ashamed to have to write it. Being both an editor and a parent I am not going to write this editorial and hope that somebody comes to the rescue of a problem that is as much mine as it is anybody else's. Beginning next week I am going to publish the appraisal of current movies released by the Legion of Decency. If I can keep our children away from such filth and salacious entertainment, maybe it will be a little encouragement for you to join me in the crusade.

I hope "Nubbin" Bizzle understands my wrath. He doesn't like to show bad movies anymore than we like to see them. To tell you the truth, maybe the entire movie industry would appreciate the American public rising up in arms about such demoralizing products.

Beats me how they can produce a show like The Ten Commandments, the Sound of Music, Bambi, etc. and then come up with "The Group." And heavens forbid, it Virginia Wolf is as bad as the stage play, we ought to wait on the outskirts of the city and burn up the film before it ever gets into the movie house.

I know I'm butting my head against a brick wall. I know people are going to say "Jo's right, but what can you do about it?" But I don't care at all.

I've learned a good lesson from being involved in politics.

I've seen and heard people lambast politics, politicians, and everything connected with it. I've also seen these same people perform their political chicanery behind closed doors using the same tactics employed by the more outspoken participants of the game.

I guess that's why I don't mind being called a politician. I'm proud of it. Maybe I can help bring some honor to the system.

Welcome Jackie!

The News and the Banana Festival have written all over creation looking for a newspaper reporter to work for both establishments either on a temporary or permanent basis. All the far-away sources we contacted said there was no such person available, so I had made up my mind that I had a busy, hard-working summer on my hands.

That is until I was rummaging around on Paul's desk and found a letter from Jackie Caraway in near-by Clinton who had written a column that she suggested might be interesting for the Shopper. The letter had been "on file," for nearly a month.

Well, I got on the phone as quick

The Labor Supply Is Here!

Harold Henderson, president of the Fulton-South Fulton Chamber of Commerce announced today that he was very pleased with the 1435 labor survey forms which have been turned in to the Chamber of Commerce office. "The response is most gratifying," Mr. Henderson stated. He continues to urge that anyone who has not yet given a labor survey form to the Chamber of Commerce office, do so immediately.

It is necessary that this information be compiled as quickly as possible to determine available labor in the area in the event that a new industry locates here. This information has been required by a prominent concern and is an important factor in their decision regarding a business location.

Of the 1435 forms received 1125 were male applicants and 310 were female. It is noted on the labor forms that the concern interested in locating here is predominantly interested in male employees.

Standard Fruit Official Returns Visit From Fultonians

Last Thursday evening, after 90 guests had paid honor at the Fulton Country Club to a distinguished couple visiting here from Ecuador, one of the honorees told the president of the Banana Festival:

"I don't see how you people in the twin cities do the things you do. We marvelled at your initiative in making the good-will tour to Ecuador, and now that we've seen your residents on their home ground, we're even more startled and pleased."

The words came from Carl Oeder, division manager of Standard Fruit Company with headquarters in Guayaquil, Ecuador. His lovely wife Doris, went even further with her praise of the twin cities. Said she:

"Unfortunately I was not in Ecuador when your group visited there, but I have heard nothing but loud praise from Carl since you were there, that's why I was in complete agreement with him when he wanted to route his state-side tour through Fulton."

The Oeders, in the United States on business and pleasure, were here for less than 24 hours on their mission "to see the town that has received fame for staging the International Banana Festival."

Taken on tours of the city by

Sonny Puckett and Mr. and Mrs. Gid Willingham, who were members of the goodwill mission to Ecuador, the Oeders were entertained at a reception and buffet dinner at the Fulton Country Club attended by officials of the Banana Festival organization, city officials, representatives and leaders of various civic and cultural groups and by those persons who made up the entourage to Ecuador.

Speaking briefly to the group at the Country Club event Mr. Oeder said that "your goodwill mission to Ecuador was made at a time when the banana industry needed a shot in the arm and you gave it to them." He added that: "It is the unanimous opinion that your local group performed the best goodwill mission to Latin-American that has ever been attempted. I know I have seen and entertained many of them."

Indeed, the Oeders did entertain the local group with a lavish party at the old and prestigious Union Club in Guayaquil, with a boat ride and with other amenities so pleasing to visitors away from home.

The Oeders have a 19-year old son attending college in Louisiana. On departing from Fulton they drove to New Orleans for a sales management meeting.

Calamity Janes Win Talent Championship

Fozzard and Jennifer Moss, 7th grade daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moss, won the district championship last Friday in the 4-H Share the Fun Contest held at the 4-H center in Milan, Tenn.

The South Fulton trio will represent the district in the state contest to be held in August at Knoxville, Tenn. They won a purple ribbon and a scholarship to this event.

Who Leads The Battle To Keep Our Children From The Filthy Influence Of Movies, TV Shows?

"You have typewriters, presses and a huge audience. How about raising hell?"

This was the climax to an address by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Tulsa, Oklahoma, Tribune editor, which attracted nation-wide attention. Jones, addressing newspaper editors of the Inland Daily Press Association convention, was expressing his caustic opinions of progressive education, behavioristic psychology, the relief scandals, dirty movies, peep show literature, unemployment benefit loafers and decadence in general.

Perhaps the size of our audience is not huge, but it is rather large and it is influential; we have the typewriter and we have the presses and we're going to say here and now that in spite of all our churches, all of our do-gooders, all of our pseudo-society we, like the rest of nation are in an advanced state of moral decline.

Harsh words? Maybe so, but true! If not why we would permit the appearance here of a movie called "The Group?" Or TV shows and movies just like it or worse?

Shown here on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, in the shadow of stately church steeples was a movie so foul, so filthy, so demoralizing that even hardened editors like ourselves left the movie house with our stomachs turning over more than once.

If you haven't, we urge you to see it, not because it is entertainment, but because you wouldn't believe it if we told you that in this movie, among other shocking scenes, were bedroom scenes, with the individuals in stark nakedness, whose activities left nothing to the imagination.

There was wife-beating; there was cursing (not the heck or darn sort of thing, but the invectives of the lowly bar-room type); there was abortion; there was perversion; there was drunkenness; there was mental illness treated in jest; there was prostitution; there was divorce; there was marital infidelity; there was shown, in wide-screen technicolor yet, the kind of petting and fondling among individuals that none of us would dare to sanction anywhere, at any time.

And yet we permitted our youngsters to sit in the same movie house with us, while pretending that we are good parents looking out for their moral up-bringing.

Right here in these twin cities you can buy literature of the lowest form of debauchery. On occasions this newspaper has halted the sale of such filth, but only temporarily, because we had not the assistance of those persons, in the clergy or public officialdom to keep the battle going.

Walking out of the movie house the editors of this newspaper recalled the time, during the last year's Banana Festival that a clergyman made a formal protest to the Festival association because a "girlie" show was a part of the carnival showing here for the week-long event.

We were happy to see such interest shown by the clergyman. The Festival president ordered that the show be closed.

But what a joke!

At least the carnival made it known that it was for adults only... they showed more respect for our young people in a temporary situation that we show for them on a permanent basis.

Doctors fight Medicare; farmers fight price controls; labor unions fight management; politicians fight themselves; socialites fight the status symbol; sportsmen fight for supremacy over fish, golf balls, horses and even pin-ball machines.

But where is the fight to keep from drowning our youngsters in violence, cynicism, and sadism piped into the living room, even the nursery.

The grandchildren of the kids who used to weep because The Little Match girl froze to death now feel cheated if she isn't slugged, raped and thrown into a Bessemer converter.

Actually we feel partly responsible for the showing here of "The Group." Several months ago one of our readers brought us the verbatim speech made by Mr. Jones. We put it away for future use. Had we published it then maybe we would have secured the necessary leadership to stop such a degrading movie being shown here, just as we hope every parent will get mad enough at this editorial to do something about the state of our moral decline.

This week we begin Mr. Jones' speech, which tells of many other shocking incidents of our moral cowardice.

ABOUT OUR NATIONAL MORALS by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

I look upon our own country and much that I see disturbs me. But we are a great people. We have a noble tradition. We have much to teach the world, and if America should go down soon it would be too early.

One thing is certain. We shall be given no centuries for a leisurely and comfortable decay. We have an enemy now — remorseless, crude, brutal and cocky. However much the leaders of the Communist conspiracy may lie to their subjects about our motives, about our conditions of prosperity, about our policies and aims, one thing they believe themselves implicitly — and that is that we are in an advanced state of moral decline.

When Nikita Khrushchev visited Hollywood he was shown only one movie set, that of a wild dance scene in "Can-Can." He said it represented decadence and I am sure he really thought so. It is a dogma of current Communist faith that America is Sodom and Gomorrah, ripening for the kill.

'Progressive Education'

We are now at the end of the third decade of the national insanity known as "progressive education." This was the education where everybody passes, where the report cards were non-committal lest the failure be faced with the fact of his failure, where all moved at a snail pace like a transatlantic convoy so that the slowest need not be left behind, and all proceeded toward adulthood in the lock-step of "togetherness." Thus the competition that breeds excellence was to be sacrificed for the benefit of something called "life adjustment."

With What Results? We have watched juvenile delinquency climb steadily. We have produced tens of thousands of high-school graduates who move their lips as they read and cannot write a coherent paragraph.

DO IT YOURSELF

A. Lincoln once spoke in this fashion:

"We must not run low on compassion,

Unfortunate folk we must help, that is true,

But you don't help a man in the end,

Be he enemy, brother or friend,

By doing for him the things he ought to do."

Some people can't "make it alone."

They live in the "indigent zone."

But let's not put courage and thrift on the shelf,

In this bright opulent day,

We'd better teach people to say,

"Uncle Sam, I'd much rather do it myself."

Independence is one precious thing,

It can cause the heart proudly to sing.

'Twould be tragic if, helping each other, we'd rob

All our people of wisdom to see

That each thing we would have or would be

Is a "do it yourself, fight the fight" sort of job.

URBAN GUERRILLA WARFARE IN THE UNITED STATES

By Dr. N. Burnett Magruder

Signs are multiplying that Communist strategy is shifting in the Western Hemisphere from guerrilla warfare on the countryside to "urban guerrilla warfare in the major cities." Jose Norman of Los Angeles, California, a Cuban exile scholar, has mentioned several times that "the new phase of modern guerrilla warfare called 'urban guerrilla warfare' now being taught in the Castro terror schools in Cuba" is designed to be used in towns and cities as distinct from that used in the countryside and mountain area. "Its effectiveness is more deadly in the towns, where more damage and sabotage can be done. The Communist 'guerrilleros' are more difficult to spot as they do not wear uniforms. They strike suddenly and rapidly and disperse immediately."

Confirmation of this movement in the United States is given in a sensational article in LIFE MAGAZINE, June 10, 1966, by Russell Sackett entitled "PLOTING A WAR ON 'WHITEY'." It is a report on the extremists who plan to turn Negro frustration into violence and wage Negro warfare against the white enemy. These extremists are not interested in securing a better life for the Negro people. Their goal is to con-

FULTON'S

Library Corner

by Miss Jessie Orgain

It was said in the old days that if you had examined the contents of a Kentuckian's pocket you would have found: a bowie knife, the précis of a lawsuit to defraud his neighbor, and a copy of "Paradise Lost." There would also probably have been a sheaf of invitations—to a ball, a New Year's Day "Open House," a formal hunt dinner, a Derby breakfast or in summer, a burgoe or barbecue party. For Kentuckians have always loved to entertain and have always been overly fond of good "vittals."

Why not make your selections for new dishes from the following books at the library:

OUT OF KENTUCKY KITCHENS. Kentucky food is as famous as Kentucky horses and Kentucky's beautiful women. This happy collection of recipes by Mrs. Morris Flexner, one of Louisville's most gracious hostesses and best cooks, contains her favorite recipes, plus the time-honored-and-tested "heirloom" recipes of her many friends, given in accurate detail and with colorful anecdotes about world-famous Kentuckians.

Is it true what they say about Dixie—that it's the home of some of the finest cooks and most tempting cuisine in these United States? If you have any doubts, just glance through this delightful collection of old Southern specialties, many of which have, until now, been closely guarded family secrets. RECIPES FROM THE OLD SOUTH is bursting with mouth-watering dishes to suit every mood and every occasion. There are old favorites like Beaten Biscuits, Oven-Fried Chicken, and Peach Cobbler; colorful concoctions such as Ham Pops, Topsy Cake, Texas Toasts, and Dulcet Cream. And for patriotic holidays there are scores of ingenious ideas from "historical" meals.

CAKES—CAKES—CAKES — the most lip-smacking assortment ever assembled for the home baker—to serve her family and friends, to offer at club meetings, to take to church suppers, to bake for her daughter's wedding, to celebrate birthdays, holidays, and special events. Even some to bake over a campfire! The more than 300 recipes in THE CAKE COOK BOOK have been lovingly garnered, invented, home-tested, and written down by the sister team of Lillith Rushing and Ruth Voss over a period of more than forty years.

Recipes for every imaginable kind of sandwich — open-face, super-hero, hot and hearty baked, broiled, and sauteed sandwiches and sauciwiches, peel-deals, wrap-ups and stack-ups, and dainty tea sandwiches—abound in this marvelous book. But, more than a recipe book, THE SANDWICH BOOK overflows with imaginative, unusual, festive, and gay suggestions which will inspire every sandwich-maker to create his own personal masterpieces.

On Monday, July 18, at 10 a. m. there will be a film for children up to age 8. The film will be "Millions of Cats" based on the book MILLIONS OF CATS by Wanda Gag. We would like to invite the mothers to come along with the children and watch the film with them, or to bring their children by and pick them up after the film.

On Tuesday, July 19, at 2:30 p. m. there will be a film "Treasure in Books" for all school age children. At this time our summer reading program will be started and we will have registration for those who haven't already registered. The Fulton Public Library is in search of Secret Agent trainees to take part in this summer's special Secret Agent Reading Program.

Participants may begin the 005 Reading Program during the remaining part of July. To qualify as a Library Secret Agent, boys and girls must complete the following assignment: 1. Register at your public library; 2. Read five challenging books and record their titles in a "Secret File"—to be supplied by the librarian; 3. Investigate! Complete the information requested on the back cover of your "Secret File." Search your library for clues; 4. Qualify! Ask the librarian to check the completed assignment for accuracy. Upon completion of the full assignment, the trainee becomes a Library Secret Agent and is entitled to bear a wallet-sized Library Secret Agent Identification Card and to wear an 005 Secret Agent Pin.

KENTUCKY THE BEAUTIFUL

Kentucky is a beautiful state — let's keep it that way by observing anti-littering laws, says the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources. You can be fined up to $300 for dumping trash or other debris on roadways and waterways.

WATER TRIPLES!

As population doubles, demand for water triples in the United States. Next to air, water is our most vital resource—protect your supply from pollution and waste, says the State Department of Natural Resources.

"Little Proc" Now Serving At Wesley Church

M. B. Proctor, minister of the Wesley and Bethlehem Methodist Churches, is a beloved member of his community, reverently fulfilling a calling that came rather late in his life.

Born the son of Henry E. and Grace Reich Proctor in Lima, Ohio, M. B. Proctor, the oldest of four children was affectionately called "Little Proc".

Subsequently moving to Paducah, he attended the Longfellow grade school and the old Washington Paducah High School. Upon graduation he became associated with the retail and wholesale drug business. During world War II he was a metallurgist for the Commercial Heat Treating Corp., of Detroit, Mich.

Later he entered the retail grocery business in Mayfield, Kentucky and became a member of Christ Church. It was at this point in his life that he felt the need to enter into the full time service of God. At the age of 47 he again returned to his studies, a difficult step for a man of mature age, earned his B. S. degree from Bethel College of McKenzie, and completed four summer school semesters at Emory University.

It was a memorable day for him, his faithful wife Bessie Hughes Proctor and their charming daughters Maria Kathryn and Betty Jane, when he entered the ministry in 1954.

Long live the faith of "Little Proc".

vert the riots to full-scale urban warfare. The seriousness of the outlook of these revolutionaries can be indicated by a few excerpts from the interview in this article as follows:

"Furtive and unreal as such conversations sound to a white society that hasn't quite mastered the first verse and a chorus of WE SHALL OVERCOME, they ring familiarly to students conversant with revolution and guerrilla warfare in the more violent sectors and eras of world history. It is, in fact, a prevailing attribute of R. A. M. members that they are impressively well read in revolutionary literature - from Marat and Lenin to Mao, Che Guevara and Frantz Fanon.

"One of the brothers' real hang-ups now," said one such scholar, twirling his martini glass in a Brooklyn bar, "is that there's no really definitive book on URBAN guerrilla warfare. I've checked the libraries; it's too new a subject . . . Maybe," he chuckled in afterthought, "we'll write our own."

The techniques of urban guerrilla warfare have largely been defined by Robert Williams in his terrorist magazine entitled THE CRUSADER, which circulates widely in cities in the United States and Canada, from his home base in Havana, Cuba. One of the tracts circulated by Williams concludes with this statement:

"America is a house on fire. FREEDOM NOW, or let it burn, let it burn!" Those who are interested in further information should consult a brilliant report entitled "Communist Plans For Guerrilla Warfare In The U. S."

by Phillip Abbott Luce in the April 11, 1966 issue of the WASHINGTON REPORT published by the American Security Council. Mr. Luce was a member of the R. A. M. (Revolutionary Action Movement) and he states that the R. A. M. "envisions using the urban areas as a base of operation."

The revolutionaries believe "that the black ghetto areas in our major cities hold the key to a successful guerrilla war. They specifically purpose that black people be organized into small guerrilla units which will use the night to spread terror through a city. Terror will be the major weapon - terror will in turn lead to a demoralization of the will of the government. Bombs will be placed in New York's Grand Central Station or other public places; key personalities will be assassinated; snipers will indiscriminately murder innocent citizens; theatres will be fired."

In R. A. M.'s official publication, the plan is drawn as follows:

"When war breaks out in the country, if the action is directed toward taking over institutions of power and 'complete annihilation of the racist capitalist oligarchy' then the black revolution will be successful . . . The revolution will 'strike by night and spare none.' Mass riots will occur in the day with the Afro-Americans blocking traffic, burning buildings, etc."

As Phillip Luce points out: "While neither R. A. M. nor the P. L. P. is in any position to topple the American government in the near future . . . is important to note that the Communist 'plan' of guerrilla warfare is well advanced for the United States itself."

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

WESLEY METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Maral B. Proctor, Minister

The early history of Wesley Methodist is rather vague. Our oldest citizens tell us the ground on which the first church was erected was given by Mr. Mark Hardin, who also built the first church.

The date and erection of the first church, a wooden structure, is not known, but is thought to have been in or about the year 1850. It was given the name of Wesley in honor of John Wesley, "The Father of Methodism."

In 1853 the church was destroyed by fire. Brother Weaver was the pastor at that time. He and some of the faithful members immediately began to build the second church. Some of the members who made it possible are: Jessie Walker, Mark Hardin, Milk Gardner, Mrs. Mary Bushart, Hall Cooley, Solomon Hancock, Jack Hardin, Mr. Clabe, Dr. W. S. Hamlett, and John Phelps.

The second church was built by Mark Hardin, the father of M. D. Hardin and Mrs. John Robey. The fall of 1883 was the beginning of the revivals, which continue to this day. Out of these great revivals have come some very prominent people.

In 1930 the church building was in a sad state of repair and the board of trustees, with the congregation, thought it best to tear down and rebuild.

On June 3, 1930, the cornerstone was laid in a very colorful and impressive ceremony. Former ministers who were present at this service were: N. W. Lee, M. H. Alexander, J. F. Morelock, T. L. Perry and E. B. Rucker, the pastor at that time. They assisted Rev. R. A. Clark, the District Superintendent of the Paris District, in the dedicatory services. Wesley Beard was the church school superintendent and Mrs. Beard was president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. The stewards were: C. C. Hancock, W. B. Weatherspoon, R. L. Howell, B. C. Walker, Wesley Beard, S. J. Walker and his wife, Callie, led the young people eight years.

Rev. Proctor is also minister to the Bethlehem Methodist Church.

Mrs. Purcell gets greetings from her pastor, Father Leonard Alvey

— from her neighbors Mrs. Nell Bowden and Mrs. W. H. Purcell, seated, — from Altar Society president, Mrs. Bob Hyland, and her hostess for the evening, Mrs. John Schwerdt, and Mrs. Clifton Cherry and Mrs. J. H. Patterson, standing.

Birthday Parties Are Fun... More So For A Lady Like Mrs. Purcell

There is nothing quite so much fun as a birthday party, and especially if it's a real, honest to goodness surprise.

Mrs. Ella Purcell, a gracious, charming and dignified lady, vows that when the members of the St. Edward's Altar Society started singing "Happy Birthday" to her at the home of Mrs. John Schwerdt last Monday night, the event was not only a surprise but a reminder to her that she had a birthday coming up in a few days.

The event was the regular meeting of the altar society, but the program was so arranged that delicious refreshments were in the birthday motif. In addition to members of the society, Mrs. Schwerdt called in a few of Mrs. Purcell's neighbors to join in the party, which could not have pleased the honoree more.

Mrs. Purcell is the widow of J. A. Purcell, a well known and respected employee of the Illinois Central railroad who passed away a few years ago. The couple came to Fulton to make their residence in 1916.

Mrs. Purcell lives in a comfortable, large home at 714 Walnut Street. She is a meticulous housekeeper, an attentive and loyal neighbor and a lady without whom the St. Edward's Church would not be happy.

Mrs. Purcell is telephone chairman for the altar society and when she performs her duties she never lets the receiver rest on the hook until every member is called, or a message left with the member's family.

She is an inspiration to all who know her for her piety and her love for her church. Only rare occasions keep her from any of the services, to which she makes great contributions by keeping the altar linens spotless and the edifice more beautiful with flowers in any kind of weather.

Yes, birthday parties are fun, but more so when they're given for such lovely people like Mrs. Ella Purcell. 'Tis many more happy returns that we wish her.

THE GID WILLINGHAMS SMILE FOR THE CAMERA as the Vyron Mitchells look on at the proceedings with enjoyment.

COULD THIS FOURSOME BE TALKING ABOUT QUEENS? Left to right: Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wilson, Mrs. Ual Killebrew who decorated the Fulton Country Club for the party and Mr. Killebrew. The Wilsons are the parents of former festival Princess Rita Wilson and the Killebrews were the hosts for Miss Ecuador (Pat) and her mother, (Mrs. Florence Ballesteros) when they were here at last year's Festival.

Civic leaders all... that's Agnes Turner of WFUL, City Commissioner Charles Robert Bennett and Chamber of Commerce President Harold Henderson on hand to honor the Oeders.

MAY I PRESENT THE SECRETARY OF THE FESTIVAL BOARD, Mrs. Paul Westpheling, president says as she introduces Mrs. Bob Morgan, right, to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Oeder.

While his wife was greeting the many guests, Paul Westpheling does the honors of introductions. The Larry Aders of Fulton meet the Carl Oeders of Ecuador and they pronounce their names the same way.

TALKING AND EATING WAS THE ORDER OF THE EVENING because there was so much good in both of them when the Oeders were here. Shown here are Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Butts, Mrs. John Sullivan and Mr. Sullivan.

As usual a gentleman listens to the ladies. That's Charles Reams, center with Mrs. Bill Stokes and Mrs. Ramelle Pigue.

Conservation Work Seen As Effort To Beautify

Landowners are making a direct contribution to the national drive to improve natural beauty in our countryside, according to Homer A. Taff, state conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service, headquartered in Lexington.

"This fact is the highlight of the SCS 1965 Progress report, recently released from Washington," Taff said. "Making rural America a better place to live has been a by-product of conservation efforts by Kentucky landowners over the past two decades. Their work has eliminated many unsightly areas in urban and rural areas."

During 1965, beautification assistance was emphasized as a result of the White House Conference on Natural Beauty. SCS field men are aiding landowners and local organizations in establishing conservation practices that restore natural beauty.

Building ponds, healing eroded areas, planting crops on the contour, improving wildlife areas, grassing roadbanks are just a few of the ways landowners have been improving the esthetic quality of Kentucky's landscape.

According to the report, SCS provided more than 3.3 million separate services on conservation planning and application to soil conservation district cooperators in 1965. Over 94,000 consultative services were provided to county and municipal agencies, local organizations and business concerns.

"With over two-thirds of United States' land area held in private ownership, this is the logical way to protect and improve the natural beauty of our remaining open land," Taff said.

BIRD FOOD THE YEAR ROUND
People who like to see songbirds in their backyards the year round can have them there by providing the right combination of plants, according to Homer A. Taff, State Conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service, headquartered in Lexington.

"Twelve top-quality trees and shrubs will do the trick in most parts of Kentucky," says Taff. "These plants bear seeds or fruits that are available at different seasons, thus assuring the birds of a ready supply of food no matter what the time of year."

Spring and early summer food is provided by American elm, red mulberry, and wild black cherry. Regular summer fare is produced by blackberry, elderberry and serviceberry. Grape, red cedar, and flowering dogwood can be depended upon for fall food. Later on, during the critical winter months when food is normally scarce, smooth sumac, coralberry, and greenbrier will keep the birds alive until spring.

"Not only do these plants provide food for the birds, but they also furnish shelter from weather and natural enemies," notes the SCS official. "And while they are benefiting the birds they are at the same time protecting the soil and helping to beautify the landscape."

Good Prices Being Paid For Timber

The Kentucky Division of Forestry recently marked for sale several tracts of timber in this area. The landowners were able to sell their timber from $500 to $10,000. This emphasizes the excellent prices being paid for timber in this area by local loggers and sawmill operators.

Every year prices of timber varies similar to prices of cattle, hogs, etc., depending on the demand and supply of the product. It is a known fact that Spring and Fall is the best time to sell cattle because you receive the best price for them. It is the same way with timber and wood products. Certain periods of the year offer better prices than others.

At present, timber prices have reached a peak for this area and woodland owners are encouraged to take advantage of this situation. The Kentucky Division of Forestry will assist woodland owners in marketing their timber, finding buyers, and help them to receive the best price possible for it.

For further information on this, contact the Kentucky Division of Forestry, Mayfield, Kentucky. A Service Forester will then contact you, at no fee, and assist you in any woodland problems you may have.

Deadline For Collecting Blue Ribbons Is Near

Kentucky farm families are reminded that they have just a few more weeks to collect blue ribbons in county fairs, horse shows, state fairs and other agricultural events and enter the competition for Kentucky Blue Ribbon Farm Family of 1966.

H. C. Brown, chairman of the Blue Ribbon Farm Family Contest annually sponsored by the Louisville Chamber of Commerce, said entries in the competition must be postmarked no later than August 15 and addressed to the Louisville Chamber of Commerce. Entry blanks may be obtained from county agricultural agents, vocational agriculture teachers or the Louisville Chamber of Commerce, 300 West Liberty, Louisville, Kentucky 40202. Kentucky State Fair premium lists also include an entry blank.

The winning and runner-up farm families will be selected on the basis of most blue ribbons won by members of the family during the year September 1, 1965 to August 13, 1966. Trophies will be presented the winners at the Kentucky State Fair in Louisville on August 24. In addition, there will be recognition certificates for all participants. Last year's winner was the Lenard R. Ezell family of Gracey Route 1; runner-up was the Charles Schadler, Sr. family of Alexandria Route 1.

Serving on the contest committee with Brown, who is Jefferson County agricultural agent, are J. Kenneth Ward, Henry C. Fisher, Jr. and Charles E. Keen.

TOGETHERNESS!

Kentucky joined 18 other states with similar programs when its Department of Law established a Division of Consumer Protection to guard the public against fraud and deceit practiced by unethical business concerns.

Fulton County Farmers Review Tillage Benefits

MINIMUM TILLAGE—Checking an excellent stand of soybeans in wheat stubble are James R. White, farmer of lower bottom and Charles W. Martin, Work Unit Conservationist, Fulton Co. White used a rotary-tiller type machine and performed four steps in one trip across the field: 1) seedbed preparation 2) preemergence herbicide application, 3) preemergence herbicide incorporation and 4) soybeans planted. This amounted to a savings of about $5 per acre.

Cooperators with Fulton County Soil Conservation District are realizing benefits from minimum tillage. About 1000 acres of row crops have been planted this year by using some form of minimum tillage in Fulton County.

Bobby Caldwell eliminated at least one disking and on some corn fields no seedbed preparation except plowing. This was done by adding a set of "spring tooth scratchers" in front of each planting unit to prepare a seedbed in the row only. A pre-emergent herbicide was applied during the planting operation, thus no cultivation necessary.

Charles Wright, Chairman of Fulton County SCD, eliminated a disking and added a pre-emergence. He says, "with this system I wouldn't want better conditions for corn to germinate and the weed control looks good."

James R. White has used a side-winder machine to plant 400 acres of soybeans after wheat in the lower bottom. With this machine, four operations were done with one trip across the field, (1) seedbed preparation (2) treflan applied (3) treflan incorporated and (4) soybeans planted.

White says, "I saved about $5.00 per acre plus the fact that very little moisture was lost." Cultivation can be done with the same tool by removing the planting units and shifting the tillers on the toolbar.

If this type machine is used on sloping land it is a "must" to work on the contour. By practicing minimum tillage, operating on the contour and returning crop residue to the soil, the net profit will increase, soil losses will decrease and soil tillage will improve.

GONG, GONE, GONE!

Approximately 400 one-room schools have disappeared from Kentucky within the last four years. The number of small high schools in the state is decreasing.

DEAN SIGNED FOR 1966 MID-SOUTH FAIR—Jimmy Dean, the versatile television star, will sing and play his way through two performances at the Mid-South Fair October 1. The Mid-South Coliseum is to be the setting for the talented Texan's show at 4:00 and 8:30 p.m. the last Saturday of the Fair, which will run from September 23 through October 1.

Agriculture College Education Pays

Many farm families who have sons attending an agricultural college may wonder what types of jobs their children will find, and how much money they will earn after graduation. Many undergraduate agriculture students raise questions regarding employment and salary expectation. Some of these questions are: What is the average starting salary? How much should I expect to be earning within five years? What areas are expanding most rapidly?

In order to get answers to these questions, questionnaires were sent to 199 men who received B. S. degrees from Colleges of Agriculture. One hundred thirty four returned the completed papers. These generalizations can be drawn from their answers.

It is evident that business and industrial phases of agriculture are coming to the front. Almost half those answering indicated affiliation with business or industrial agriculture.

Young men are needed in all phases of agribusiness. Extension workers and vocational agriculture teachers are always in great demand. It is interesting to note that 15 percent of those answering were farming, which shows importance and interest in this area. Those engaged in farming operated over 406 acres with an average income of $7276, on this size farm.

Graduates are being constantly sought to fill professional jobs in agriculture.

Agricultural business and industry paid best with an average salary of $8000 per year.

This survey showed about 25 percent of the graduates had at some time gone back to school to further their education.

It is plain that this survey proves opportunities for young men in agriculture will continue to grow for many years. Agriculture offers many fine careers to boys who want to pursue this type work.

We can be sure of one thing here, a college trained man has a definite advantage over the drop out.

Agribusiness is still number one in this area, and will be for many years to come. There are some who say 'agribusiness is being replaced in our economy'. These are among the misinformed. The agriculture dollar income must be multiplied by seven to arrive at the economic impact. Most industry cannot claim this and especially tourism.

Mr. and Mrs. America still marvel at agriculture production miracles. This results in a stronger basic economy, which is the super highway to freedom.

OBION COUNTY

Joe Martin, County Agent
Union City, Tenn.

MILLION DOLLAR RAIN

Obion County received a million dollar rain last week and already we can tell a great difference in the looks of the crops. As usual in some areas the rain came in the way of a flood and damaged some corn by blowing the corn down.

Soybeans are beginning to jump and are looking real good. About the best field of beans we have observed were on the farm of Mr. Joe McGaugh and are being raised by Mr. Ed Hailey. Mr. McGaugh is a great believer in lime and that might be one reason that the soybeans on his farm look so good.

Soybean cyst nematodes are beginning to show up as usual. We just hope that it won't be too long before an ample supply of nematode resistant soybean seed are available. Mrs. Charles A. Barham has several acres of foundation Pickett Soybeans growing for seed certification purposes which are resistant to the nematodes. These beans are up to a good stand and growing good. Soil test report on the soil where the Pickett Soybeans are growing did not recommend any lime or fertilizer but just to make sure her son Mackie Cutler applied 200 lbs. of 0-20-20 fertilizer.

From market reports it looks as if soybean growers will do all right this year. I've overheard a number of farmers saying that when they could book beans for $3.00 delivery this fall they would book beans. But last week when they could book beans for slightly over $3.00 very few producers took advantage of the market. If we just knew what the market would do we could all get RICH.

FIELD DAY TIME

In the very near future it seems as if all livestock associations will be having their field days in the West Tennessee area. The Jersey Cattle Association will have a field at the L. M. Maclin Farm near Stanton on July 13, while the Holstein Association will have their Black and White Show at Jackson on July 19.

A Junior Angus Association field day will be held on the John Smith Farm near Jackson on July 20 and the Obion County and West Kentucky Angus Field Day will be held at Parnell Garrigan's Farm on July 23.

FARM DATES TO REMEMBER

July 19 - Black and White Show - Jackson.
July 20 - Jr. Angus Field Day - Jackson.
July 21 - Feeder Pig Sale - Dresden.
July 23 - Obion County Angus Field Day - Ken-Ten Angus Farm.
July 27 - Soybean Field Day - Milan.

Farmers Seeking New Allotment Should See ASC

Farmers who wish to be considered for a "new farm" allotment for the 1967 crop of winter wheat on a farm which does not have a 1966 wheat allotment should get in touch with the ASCS county office during the next few weeks.

A producer eligible to file such an application is one with a farm for which no wheat allotment has been established and for which neither the owner nor the operator has an interest in the wheat allotment on any other farm, who has available land and adequate equipment and facilities for the successful production of a wheat crop on the farm, who during the last 5 years has had at least 2 years' experience in producing wheat, and who as an operator expects to receive 50 percent or more of the current year's income from the total production on the farm (not including the anticipated income from wheat produced on a "new farm" allotment.) Other factors are involved, and it is suggested that interested producers discuss the details with officials at the ASCS county office.

The Chairman said that formal application for a "new farm" wheat allotment may be made by filing a written application at the ASCS county office prior to the July 1 deadline.

The other movie will be a 25-minute color series on federal education programs and the emphasis of Title I in Kentucky. The Last Generation, which will be released during meetings held across the state concerning the various regional problems of education—with plans for attacking these problems.

Paintsville Gets $425,000 Grant To Develop Industrial Park

Development of an industrial park near Paintsville, Kentucky, will be financed with the help of a $425,000 grant announced today by Eugene P. Foley, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development.

Funds will come from the Economic Development Administration in the U. S. Department of Commerce.

In applying for the EDA grant, officials of the Big Sandy Industrial Foundation stated that funds were essential to provide services for attracting new industry to a 190-acre site about five miles south of Paintsville.

Included in the project will be construction of a water distribution system, roads, septic tanks and lighting. Completion is expected about six months after start of construction.

Total cost of the project will be $588,000. The Big Sandy Industrial Foundation will invest $163,000. EDA was established by the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965 to promote economic growth in depressed areas. In addition to public works grants and loans, EDA provides business loans, technical assistance funds and planning grants.

The Paintsville Labor Area is eligible to participate in the EDA program under terms of the Act.

LET'S LOOK IT OVER

By Gov. Edward T. Breathitt

FRANKFORT—

Prior to my leaving for Poland as the representative of President Johnson at the Posnan Trade Fair, I am writing this column. On my return I hope to tell you about some of my impressions of the Fair, of the country and its people. As was announced by the White House, I will speak during the America Day at the Fair. I look forward to this opportunity to represent Kentucky and the nation.

The State is collecting in June 1966 six times as much interest on the idle funds it has on deposit in Kentucky banks as it was collecting at the time I became Governor two and one-half years ago.

On the basis of the $51,600,000 in idle funds on deposit April 1 the State is now collecting $1,290,000 more in interest annually than the $258,000 it received at the old interest rate in 1963.

Idle funds are those in excess of the State's day-to-day cash needs.

The announcement on June 3 that the rate required on idle-funds deposits had been increased from two to three per cent marked the second such rise put into effect since I took office. The first was to two per cent from one-half of one per cent.

This latest increase of one per cent, which will yield the State about $516,000 more per year in revenue, was based on a statewide study of interest rates paid depositors, but I intend to keep this matter under constant review to make sure we continue to get a maximum return consistent with current interest rates and sound economic practice.

The Commonwealth has adopted regulations under the Federal Kerr-Mills law, effective July 11, which will extend medicare benefits to all welfare recipients as well as many medically needy persons whose age is under 65.

Some 60,000 medically indigent Kentuckians not previously covered will be brought under the umbrella of the new program as provided for in the 1966-1968 State budget passed upon my recommendation by the 1967 General Assembly.

For the first time in Kentucky, services offered the medically indigent will include outpatient hospital services, laboratory and X-ray services, as well as physicians' attendance of patients in hospitals throughout the state.

A representative of the Social Security Administration said on a recent visit to Frankfort that 320,000 Kentuckians will receive about $53,000,000 to pay medical bills during the first full year of the program.

Lennie Crisp, Hickman County Negro, was charged by the Fulton City Court at a hearing Friday, with breaking and entering upon the property known as Babe Patterson's Pool Room.

The City National Bank was entered from the rear after a window was broken. Drawers were ransacked but apparently nothing was taken.

K. P. Dalton's Liquor Store was robbed of $35 in change from the cigarette machine and a small amount of change from the cash drawer.

Crisp was indicted for armed robbery by the grand jury at the last term of court in connection with the theft at the Lake St. Liquor Store and was out on bond.

Everett Is Honored By Many At Rally

Some people said 1,000 some said 3,000 and some even estimated the crowd at Blue Bank State Park at Reelfoot Lake Friday evening at around 4,000.

The truth is that nobody could accurately judge the crowd that sprawled out over the entire area.

The only certain thing about it was that the vast majority showed up to pay honor to their congressman, U.S. Rep. Robert A. 'Fats' Everett, and in spite

Legion Award For Everett

The outstanding record of U. S. Rep. Robert A. 'Fats' Everett of Union City in regard to veterans' legislation will be recognized at the highest state level this afternoon when the Eighth District Congressman is presented the coveted American Legion Award.

Mr. Everett left about 5 this morning for Nashville where he was scheduled to board an airliner for Knoxville to attend the annual American Legion state convention.

The presentation of the award was scheduled to be made about 2 p. m. by Joe Hudgens, past department commander and director of veterans' affairs for the state. Ollie Frith, state commander, said the award will be a plaque, presented in appreciation of Mr. Everett's "service to and support of the veterans of Tennessee."

of the heat and humidity, they had a fine time.

But it would have been difficult to find anyone who had a better time than Fats. For hours before his brief address, the jovial congressman shook hands, laughed and joked and made his constituents happy they had come. A few came to the Union City legislator with problems, major and minor, and as always, Fats had time to listen and offer his help.

Despite the heat, his energy was almost beyond belief. He moved about like a 15-year-old and shook almost every hand in the crowd. Some folks even came back for seconds. His booming voice was a target and the crowd around him was always thick.

Most of those attending came early enough to eat heartily and it wasn't difficult to do. There was barbecue and there was chicken, in plentiful supply, complete with all the trimmings. From the looks of the piled-high paper plates, most folks brought along healthy appetites.

With Mr. Everett on the speaking platform were his mother, Mrs. Charlie Everett, and Gibson County General Sessions Judge Ralph R. Lawler of Trenton, who introduced the congressman.

The legislator thanked the crowd for "one of the greatest tributes you have ever paid to me" before briefly pointing to his record in Congress.

"I think you know my record in Congress," he said, "You've seen my vote on every issue."

He devoted a moment or so of his talk to the planning under way for the bridge linking Northwest Tennessee to the Caruthersville, Mo., area and said he hoped that "about four years from now, we can all gather here and then take a ride across the bridge that will make us here in West Tennessee really neighbors with the people across the river."

The senator arrived in Union City Friday night, spent the night at the Biltmore and left here late this morning for Lake county, Dyer county and a speech at Jackson tonight. Heading the Bass forces in Obion county are County Judge Dan McKinnis and Union City Attorney Charles Fields.

'Watchdog' Committee Maps Work

FRANKFORT — State Rep. Howard Hunt, D-Danville, said Saturday the new Legislative Audit Committee may decide to audit the books of the state departments of Parks, Fish and Wildlife and Health.

The 1966 Legislature created the committee as a watchdog over expenditures of the state government. Hunt was selected chairman Thursday by a toss of a coin after a 2-2 tie between state Sen. Dee Huddleston, D-Elizabethtown, and Hunt.

News-Free Press Endorses Buford

CHATTANOOGA, The Chattanooga News-Free Press Thursday gave its editorial endorsement to former Gov. Buford Ellington in his race for a second term.

Ellington is opposed by Nashville attorney John Jay Hooker Jr. in the Aug. 4 Democratic primary.

"Gov. Ellington offers Tennesseans opportunity to elect a governor of proved ability," the Free Press editorial said. "Mr. Hooker offers Tennesseans a flight at erratic, opportunistic left wingism. The choice should be clear; a mistake could be dangerous."

Yates Named SF Principal

Virgil Yates of Fulton, former Cayce Elementary principal has been elected principal of South Fulton High School, to succeed Lester Betty, who resigned this spring after seven years in this capacity.

Mr. Yates, former basketball coach at Wingo and Fulton High schools, is the park director at the Fulton City Park and is in charge of Twin Cities Youth, Inc. summer recreation program. He is now in his third year as park director.

The new South Fulton principal is a native of Graves county and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Yates of near Pilot Oak. He, his wife, Edna, and two sons, Dale, 13 and Kim, 7, live in Deepwood. They are members of the Bethlehem Methodist church and Mr. Yates teaches an adult Sunday School class.

Mr. Yates is a graduate from Cuba High School in 1948. He played basketball on the freshman team at Murray and was a member of the UTMB Varsity for three years, averaging 18 points per game.

Following his freshman year at Murray, he went into service and saw action in the Korean conflict. He received the Silver Star, and was promoted from Private to Master Sergeant in four months.

After his service, he enrolled at UTMB and received his BS degree in 1956. In 1959 he received his Master's degree in education administration at Murray State College.

His first teaching and coaching job was at Wingo High school, where he was employed for seven years. He came to Fulton High school as basketball coach three years ago.

He is a member of the Chestnut Glade baseball team in the Northwest Tennessee League, a member of the Eaton's softball team of Mayfield and plays on the Fulton independent basketball team.

Kentucky Second In Head Start

WASHINGTON — Kentucky has moved from seventh to second in the nation in the size of its summer Head Start program.

The Office of Economic Opportunity said Friday Kentucky has received about $5 million for the operation of the programs this summer with 24,000 children enrolled.

Texas has the largest summer Head Start program, with the OEO having granted it $8.4 million to handle 34,000 children. Kentucky's program last summer was seventh in size.

The Head Start program is designed to help pre-school children from economically and culturally poor families prepare for school.

Of the state's 201 school districts, 158 have Head Start programs, according to Malcolm McCullough, coordinator of the OEO programs for the state Department of Education.

Co-Owners of the Southside Drug Company are H. O. ("Doc") Wright, left, and Charles Wade Andrews.

The Southside Drug Company occupies the center of our "spotlight" this week!

One of the community's most progressive firms, Southside Drug Company is located at the corner of State line and Broadway streets in a modern, well-lighted and well-displayed store up-to-date in every respect.

The company is a partnership of Charles Wade Andrews and Hendon O. ("Doc") Wright, formed seven years ago when the store began business in its present location, and is the only drug store in South Fulton—on the Tennessee side. As a matter of historical record that may be someday noted in the years to come, Southside is South Fulton's first drug store.

The owners are proud of their store and the way their business has grown in its easily-accessible corner at one of the busiest intersections in the Twin Cities, and they have a right to be. Southside is a clean, modern store with a wide variety of popular drug store items neatly arrayed for easy selection. It handles the popular McKesson line of drug products and at various times throughout the year features special money-saving sales on these products as do other McKesson-product stores throughout the nation. Southside also handles some of the top names in cosmetic and beauty preparations, arranged in a lovely self-service department for customer convenience.

But the pharmaceutical department—and that means "prescriptions" to most of us, is Southside's proudest department. As Charles Wade and "Doc" both say, "we try to provide the best quality drugs obtainable in the filling of our prescription orders, and we specialize in immediate service". They will go out of their way to order any unusual drugs they might not have in stock, and have them in the store within 24 hours. However, the store carries a wide variety of drugs in stock, and rarely has to do this. Charles Wade Andrews and his brother Philip, who has just joined the staff, are both registered Pharmacists.

Southside Drug Store invites all persons needing prescriptions to simply have their doctor call the store direct and give the prescription to them, and within a matter of minutes it can be called for. This often saves valuable time and is a real convenience for customers.

Both of the store owners are native Fultonians. Hendon Wright and his wife Mary Nelle live in Highlands; their son Don, a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, is a career Navy officer presently stationed on the West Coast. Charles Wade Andrews, whose father owns a jewelry store here, is married to the former Lucy Anderson, lives in East Fulton. They have two young daughters, Connie, 5, and Lynn, 4.

Other store personnel includes Dorothy (Mrs. Max) McKnight, who is specially trained in the use and application of beauty preparations, and Margie (Mrs. Robert) Lowery. Mrs. McKnight has attended special schooling provided by DuBarry, Revlon and Helena Rubinstein, all lines carried by this store.

DIET AND ACNE

One of the points that is always stressed for medical students is that where there are many varieties of treatment for any condition, it is a reasonable supposition that none of them is highly successful. If one were, the others would be forgotten.

So it goes with acne, the plague of youth.

This "skin" disease, so distressingly common in adolescent boys and somewhat less so in girls, is not really a skin disease. It is a general condition manifesting itself most annoyingly in the skin eruption. It is essentially a by-product of the changes inherent in moving into manhood or along the way to womanhood.

Glands Active

At this time, the glands of internal secretion are especially active in guiding the maturing of the body and the establishment of the adult pattern of sexuality. Among other glands stimulated are those of the skin, especially the oil or sebaceous glands.

There is no need to describe acne. Everyone knows what it looks like and how it acts. The question is, what to do about it? The usual answer, "You'll outgrow it" is met with the scornful rejoinder, "Yeah, but I've got a date this Saturday night!" And who can blame the guy or the gal!

Among other forms of treatment has been an effort, or many efforts, to control acne through diet. Usually the result is that a good diet is little or no help, but an unbalanced diet makes matters worse. Suspected foods are the fatty ones, the fried ones, the chocolatey ones and the sweet ones. But take out these foods from the adolescent diet, and what have you got? You've got revolution!

Distorted Report

A recent report attributing acne to milk was based on young people who drank up to four quarts of milk a day, to the detriment of the well-balanced diet which they should have had. Their acne was blamed on the milk. It should have been blamed on the quarts! No one recommends such excessive use of one food.

I like the advice given in the Diet Manual of the Nutrition Department, the Presbyterian Hospital, New York City, which says in effect that the best diet for persons with skin disorders is one which is nutritionally adequate, in which the four basic food groups are represented: Meat, eggs, fish, poultry, milk and dairy products, fruits and vegetables, and whole-grain or enriched cereal products. No single food or group predominates in all allergic disorders, and a good diet accomplishes more than hit-or-miss elimination of specific foods.

As to the rest of the treatment, let your doctor decide. And don't pick the pimples!

Burgundy Wine Sauce Adds Adventure To Outdoor Eating

An outdoor "frolic" can be as near as your own backyard! Why not start with an eating adventure such as lamb shish kebabs? Marinated in a Select California Burgundy wine sauce, this semi-oriental dish will be a gourmet's delight. The flavor of a sauce is all important so only a premium wine is suggested—like Select California Burgundy produced by The Christian Brothers.

Accompany the barbecue fare with "spritizers," a combination of Burgundy and soda water over ice, for the perfect summer beverage. It's sure to add zest to jaded appetites!

Shish Kebabs, California

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 teaspoon salt | 2 grated onions |
| Pepper to taste | 1 clove garlic |
| 2 bay leaves | 2 lbs. meat (lamb or beef), cut into 1 1/4 inch cubes |
| 1/4 cup lemon juice | Sliced Mushrooms |
| 3/4 cup (The Christian Brothers) Select California Burgundy | Green Pepper Squares |
| 1/2 cup salad oil | Tiny Tomatoes |
| 1/4 cup barbecue sauce | Tiny Boiled Onions |
| | Eggplant Squares |

Combine seasonings, lemon juice, Burgundy wine, salad oil and barbecue sauce in bowl. Add grated onions, garlic, green peppers to mix. Allow to marinate 4-12 hours. Drain. Reserve marinade. Alternately thread marinated meat, mushrooms and green peppers with tomatoes, onions and eggplant squares. Brush with marinade. Broil 20-30 minutes, turning and basting often until brown on both sides. Makes: 6 Shish Kebabs.

WHAT'S GOING ON

A milestone in Kentucky's brucellosis eradication program has been reached with Bell County being certified brucellosis free. In addition, six more counties are expected to be certified by the end of this year.

The Division of Livestock Sanitation has set December, 1969, as the date to have Kentucky declared a brucellosis free area. This will mean much to our livestock industry, and will be an accomplishment toward which many hours of labor have been devoted.

In order for a county to be certified brucellosis free, no more than 1/10 of one per cent of the cattle and not more than two per cent of the herds within the county can be infected. These same percentages apply in order for a state to be declared a brucellosis free area.

Bell County was certified through the backtagging program and the brucellosis ring test of milk. Thus, no on-the-farm testing was required, which resulted in a considerable saving to the farmers and the Department.

The fact that we now have one county certified points to the progress we are making in our livestock sanitation efforts. A good livestock sanitation program is a basic requirement for a strong and successful livestock industry.

Having a disease-free herd means that a farmer will not be required to conduct a program of expensive testing. If his county is certified brucello-sis free, he can move cattle to most areas with only minimum restrictions.

If Kentucky cattlemen are to continue in the role of supplying feeder cattle and replacement stock, then their herds must be disease-free. When we reach our goal of free certification in 1969, many barriers to our livestock industry will be removed.

The week of July 24-30 is National Farm Safety Week. While safety is important throughout the year, special emphasis is being given during this week to make farm residents more safety-conscious.

Melinda Shields, Outstanding Junior D Of I Of U.S., Honored

MOST OUTSTANDING D OF I—Miss Melinda Shields, named "Outstanding Junior D of I of U.S., Canada and Philippines," poses with Mrs. Paul Pickart of Cedar Rapids.

Iowa, supreme commander of youth for the Daughters of Isabella, at dinner given in Miss Shields' honor.

Miss Melinda Shields, who was chosen as the "Outstanding Junior Daughter of Isabella of the United States, Canada, and the Philippines," was honored with a buffet dinner Tuesday evening at the Knights of Columbus Hall, at which time Mrs. Paul J. Pickart, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, supreme chairman of youth in the D of I, bestowed the Eagle of the Cross Award upon her.

Preceding the dinner, Mayor Tom Wilson congratulated Miss Shields upon her achievements and welcomed Mrs. Pickart to Paducah. The Rev. Robert Wilson, pastor of St. Francis de Sales, gave the invocation, and Rev. James Wathen, pastor of Rosary Chapel and St. Mary's in La Center, gave the benediction. Mrs. Thomas Weitlauf, regent of the Paducah Circle acted as toastmistress and read letters from Bishop Henry J. Archmedes Tomb Found SYRACUSE, Sicily —The tomb of Archmedes, the Greek mathematician and scientist who died more than 2,100 years ago, has been found in some Sicilian ruins, an Italian archeologist says.

Inside the tomb is a lead coffin containing human ashes, Prof. Salvatore Ciancio, inspector of antiquities, reported. The professor said he is convinced it is the tomb of Archmedes.

LIVESTOCK PROFIT NOTEBOOK

SINGLE INSECTICIDE APPLICATION CONTROLS FLIES UP TO 2 MONTHS

Few livestock producers realize the importance of controlling flies on their premises. In addition to spreading many diseases, these annoying pests can seriously hamper efficient weight gains and milk production.

Now, many livestockmen throughout the country report exceptional long-lasting control of flies with a unique new insecticide, known as Cygon.

Beginning the day after application, Cygon eliminates these pests continuously for up to 8 weeks or longer. Thus, as little as two applications can provide protection against these insects for an entire season. By saving labor normally devoted to more frequent repeat applications of other insecticides, this material significantly reduces the overall cost of a fly control program.

Even species of flies which have developed resistance to other insecticides are effectively controlled, according to research studies and field use on commercial farms.

Thus, an ever-increasing number of authorities are recommending use of the new long-lasting insecticide around feed lots and corrals, in dairy barns, hog pens and poultry houses—in fact, wherever flies tend to breed and gather.

Side mirrors are important for safe driving in today's heavy traffic. People who frequently drive on multiple lane roadways find it advantageous to have side mirrors both on the right and left sides of their cars.

PICTURE OF SON — Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Crabtree of the State Line Road were surprised when they examined this picture of actor Frank Sutton (Sgt. Carter on the Corner Pyle show) and found their son, Marine Lance Corporal Ronald R. Crabtree, in the background (arrow). Corporal Crabtree, with the Third Marine Division, is a member of a unit which is constantly participating in day and night patrols, ambushes and extended "search and destroy" missions against the Viet Cong. A graduate of South Fulton High School, he expects to return to the U.S. later this month. The photo was taken while Sutton was giving shows in Viet Nam.

Income Tax Tattletales

Last year, Uncle Sam collected an extra $13 million in income taxes because somebody tattled for pay.

Most tips about income tax fraud come in anonymously, from people seeking no reward beyond the satisfaction of doing their duty—or of getting even with someone they don't like.

But in 1965, a typical year, 4,000 informers filed formal claims for a reward. And the government paid out $600,000 for their information.

The practice of paying money for tax tips has existed ever since the early days of the republic. In each year's budget Congress sets aside a specific sum for this purpose.

There are those who condemn the whole idea. They argue that tattling is unscrupulous, not in keeping with our traditions. Certainly, generations of American readers have despised Tom Sawyer's half brother Sid for tattling on Tom to Aunt Polly.

On the other hand, tax cheaters are not as endearing as Tom Sawyer. And, as one court put it: "It is the duty of every citizen to communicate to his government any information which he has of the commission of an offense against its laws."

The Internal Revenue Service takes no position on fine philosophical grounds. Its job is simply to collect all the money that the government has coming—and informers are a big help. Using them not only puts the IRS on the track of cheaters but also helps to keep many a tempted citizen honest.

How much can an informer collect? Up to 10 percent of what the government recovers, which can be considerable. However, the exact amount is left largely to the discretion of the IRS.

In one case an informer sued the government, complaining that he wasn't paid as much as his information was worth. But he got nowhere. The court said the IRS is obliged to make an honest evaluation of services rendered, but is not obliged to pay what others may consider a fair sum.

In another way, too, the IRS has the last word. For the informer, having won his reward, must then pay income tax on it.

In fact, there have even been cases in which informers themselves were fined for failing to pay the tax on their reward. No doubt Tom Sawyer would have a phrase for that:

Poetic justice.

TOBACCOLAND QUEEN AND TOBACCO-STATE GOVERNOR—Governor Edward T. Breathitt met with the 1966 Queen of Tobaccoland, Miss Barbara Ware Thomas of Appomattox, Va., at the annual meeting of the Tobacco Association of the U. S. and the Leaf Exporters Association, at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Breathitt invited Miss Thomas to attend the 1966 State Fair and Miss Thomas, in turn, invited the governor to the 18th annual National Tobacco Festival in Richmond, Va. Breathitt was guest speaker at the tobacco associations' meeting.

School Lunch Program Came of Age During Years of the Depression

The school lunch program came of age during the depression years. Its purpose was to provide a better diet for millions of children. It did the job then and is still supplying nutritious meals to students today.

In a 1962 speech, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, then senator from Minnesota said: "The food that had been used (in the school lunch program) for little children in the '30's helped make strong men for the '40's. It helped to make a better Nation."

And very few people have even paused to think why it was that, instead of weaklings, there were strong healthy men and women to carry on the burdens of this country and the responsibilities of this Republic.

Still Room for Growth
Today, with the school lunch program supplying nutritious meals to more than 32 million pupils, it can still be expanded, according to Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, George L. Mehren, who said recently: "More than 9 million children do not have access to any type of school feeding program — and nearly half of them are children of poverty who would qualify for a free meal if it were available."

"An additional half-million children who attend schools that do have a lunch program should be getting a free meal — and would be getting it if there were adequate resources."

MIGHTY MOMENTS are captured upon the screen in Cecil B. DeMille's Technicolor production of "The Ten Commandments," in which Charlton Heston portrays Moses. Opening 5 - Big Days Starting Friday at the Cool Air Conditioned Fulton Theatre in a "command performance" — the first since its original all-record-breaking run — the Paramount Picture is considered the greatest film achievement of all time. Not only is it the recapturing of the most dramatic part of history, it is an out-standing accomplishment in terms of celluloid technique and style.
